Being able to process payroll information instantly and quickly is critical for The National Rehabilitation Hospital. The National Rehabilitation Hospital is the national centre for the treatment of spinal and brain injury rehabilitation in Ireland and it has over 500 employees based in Dun Laoghaire. Brendan Martin, Payroll Manager says, “We needed a system that would offer us flexibility, reliability and allow us to customise information. We previously used a DOS based payroll system for 20 years, although the product was good, we do not have the flexibility that we have now with Megapay”.

They chose Megapay from Intelligo Software because “of its track record in the payroll business and the health sector in Ireland. Having used a DOS based application for 20 years, it was important to us that installation and training of a new system went as smoothly as possible, the attention to detail and knowledge of our specific requirements by Intelligo staff’s during the installation and on-going support was incredible, it gave the payroll department the confidence they needed going forward”, said Brendan.

“Megapay offers us extreme flexibility, it has given us far more control over the payroll process and information is now much better for both the employee and employer, to sum it all up ‘payroll access at your fingertips’.”

When Brendan was asked if Megapay had a positive impact on the hospital, he responded, “Megapay has increased the efficiency and the time of the payroll department by linking to external applications such as ROS, Agresso, etc. The best feature in our opinion is the easy access to excel through the system. It has taken away a lot of the mundane keying of information and freed up the payroll staff for other more strategic tasks”.
