

Intelligo Software Announces the Launch of New Web Based Employee Self Service, Human Resource System - MegaHR

1st February 2011, Dublin Ireland – Intelligo Software, one of Irelands leading suppliers of HR and Payroll Solutions, today announced the launch of MegaHR, Intelligo's web based Human Resource system.

Deployed entirely over a standard internet browser, MegaHR's capabilities cover the entire HR lifecycle from recruitment to retirement encompassing, personnel records, training administration, succession planning, employee benefits and employee self service.

MegaHR can be fully integrated to Megapay, Intelligo's leading corporate Payroll Software used to pay 14% of the working population in Ireland. This seamless link allows for accurate sharing of information between payroll and HR, allowing for single data entry to both systems which not only saves input time and eliminates the need for duplicate checking but also ensures the consistency of data between both applications.

"MegaHR is designed to meet modern HR management requirements. With an array of features and modules such as the Employee Self Service and Line Manager access, MegaHR addresses many of the problems facing effective HR departments," said Pdraig Gill, Company Director of Intelligo Software. "MegHR is accessible from anywhere in the world, anytime, via any computer with internet access. This helps HR departments to accelerate HR processes since you do not have to wait to get to your desk to perform administrative tasks. Leave approvals/rejections, recruitment applicant training, timesheet approvals/rejections, etc are some of the critical tasks that can be performed without delay.

He added, "this really is the next generation of HR software. Unlike older systems where HR had to go looking for certain information, MegaHR is proactive in letting you know when something needs to be highlighted to you – the built in workflow engine can be configured to alert you, via email, to any scenario, for example an employee's work permit is expiring or an employee has taken more than 3 days of uncertified sick leave in the last 12 months."

MegaHR can be delivered via an on-premise or as a hosted model, offering HR Managers a choice of deployment options to suit their needs. It is a modularised offering, enabling organisations to implement the functionality they currently need while laying the foundation for a fully-integrated HR and Payroll solution.
