

INTELLIGO SOFTWARE LAUNCHES NEW WEBSITE FOR PRESSURE SEAL TECHNOLOGY AND STATIONERY

9th October 2009, Dublin Ireland – Intelligo Software Ltd, a leading provider of pressure seal machines and stationery in Ireland, today announced the official launch of www.pressureseal.ie, a website devoted to providing detailed information on a wide range of pressure seal technology and stationery.

Pressure Seal technology provides the office environment with a whole new level of cost and manpower benefit. It could possibly be the single best investment a company can make in its distribution and print handling of payslips and secure documents.

With a totally fresh appearance and format, this new website features comprehensive information on the different types of pressure seal machines available, the difference between each type, and samples of the many variations of Pressure Seal forms and payslips that Intelligo Software provides.

“The website was required to meet our new and existing client’s needs for immediate information on the different printing options available,” said Padraig Gill, Managing Director of Intelligo Software Limited. “The advantage of using a pressure seal machine in your payroll department means that there is no longer a requirement to maintain outdated noisy dot matrix printers and the clarity of the pressure seal payslip far outweighs the carbon copy of the dot matrix form which can sometimes fade. Similarly, time currently spent on separating payslips for dispatch is now saved – you take the A4 form straight from your laser printer and feed them into the pressure seal machine – everything is done for you.

Padraig added, “Pressure seal technology offers security, that can be measured in two ways: the recipient’s safety, and the confidentiality of the recipient’s information. Pressure seal eliminates the likelihood of putting wrong information into an envelope or stuffing two cheques into one envelope. Also, the time and resources used to correct such mistakes disappears.

- End -

Notes to the Editor

About Intelligo Software Ltd

Visit us on www.pressureseal.ie.

Established in 1995, Intelligo is one of the leading providers of pressure seal machines and stationery in Ireland.

In partnership with WelltecUK and JT Equipment, Intelligo offer distribution and installation of pressure seal machines and stationery to corporations, government departments and small to medium sized companies throughout Ireland.

Together with JT Equipment, Intelligo has the experience and expertise to provide full technical support and solutions for your specific Pressure Seal requirements. Maintenance contracts for Pressure Seal equipment are also available and offer a typical 4 hour response time should it be necessary.

Intelligo, with its customer focused policy, will make very effort to provide its customers across Ireland with more competitive and reliable pressure seal machines and stationery and to establish an efficient environment well suits for today's demanding market place.

Existing customers using our pressure seal machines and stationery include; Noonans, Hickey Pharmacy, Carriglea Cairde Services, Gypsum Industries Limited, DEPFA Bank plc, The Rotunda Hospital, plus many more.

-End-

More information: Fiona Cullinane, Intelligo Software, T: 01 272 4610, E: fiona.cullinane@intelligo.ie